Help To Smash Waterside Mall!

The public is invited to call 703-769-1216 by Thurs. Oct. 25 for reservations to attend a Thurs. Nov. 1, 4 -6 pm "Demolition Party" on the plaza in back of 401 M St. SW. (See ad page 5). Following are some details: the plaza is in the back of the building and we will have directional signage in the front. We anticipate people walking up through the building from the front so we will open the mall for that day. We need to have the RSVP so that we need to know how much food to order, we are starting with a target of 300 and will adjust accordingly. We will not issue tickets but will have a check in at the entrance. We anticipate ordering 30% over to cover some walk ups, but it is discourage and we will have to close it up once we run out of food. It is going to be tricky.

We will have a wrecking crane there that will smack the side of the building with a huge ball that we are inviting everyone to sign during the event. CityArts will be there because we anticipate doing a mural for the community.

Arena Stage Q&A Oct. 29, Nov 6; Breaks Ground in Jan.

Arena Stage has set two public meetings to explain its plans to move for three years to Crystal City, Va., starting with performances in January. Their release states in part, "... we would like to invite you to attend an Audience Forum to ask us questions about the building, your tickets, our temporary home at Crystal City or anything else you may want to know... We have planned two dates: Monday, October 29th and Tuesday, November 6th at 7:00 p.m. in the Kreeger. These events will include a presentation about the design of the Mead Center and about all that Crystal City has to offer us during this transition time."

"Please let us know you plan on attending by calling (202) 488-3300 at least three days before the event of your choice.

"After planning our new home for many years and raising more than $104 million toward our $125 million goal, we are thrilled to announce that we will break ground in January 2008.

"Arena Stage will move to a temporary home in Crystal City, VA at the Crystal Forum. A five minute drive from our current location in Southwest DC, the Crystal Forum is close to Reagan National Airport and one block away from the Crystal City Metro station, which is serviced by both the Blue and Yellow Metro lines."

Painting Historic Call Boxes

By Lida Churchville

The Southwest Call Box Painting project is underway: our partnership with the Earth Conservation Corps calls for the Corps painting our community's historic police and fire call boxes colors reflecting the riches of the Southwest community: its water, its sky, and its cherry blossoms.

On Tuesday, October 2nd, SWNA board members Farid Ben Amor and Perry Klein started painting a "model" call box in front of the Metro elevator at 4th and M Streets so that the Corps painters would have a model call box as an example.

The DC Heritage Tourism Coalition is sponsoring the Art On Call program in DC neighborhoods and arranging grants. Some communities with historic call boxes already designed are Dupont Circle, Ten-leytown and the Foxhall Community.

The SW Call Box Committee is looking for volunteers - please call 479-2750 if you are interested in working on this community project. We need help in providing the oversight required of our partnership with the Earth Conservation Corps.

SWNA Board members Farid Ben Amor, left, and Perry Klein test color sample for painting the basic form of several dozen historic fire call boxes in Near Southwest, before the Earth Conservation Corps takes on the task. Artists will later be enlisted to create distinctive artwork in each call box, "as artistic displays that will incorporate local history."

Earth Conservation Corps at Sep. SWNA

By Lida Churchville,
SWNA Board Member

After a brief summer break, the Southwest Neighborhood Assembly opened its 2007-2008 season of monthly community meetings with a September 24th program announcing SWNA's partnership with the Earth Conservation Corps on a Call Box painting project scheduled to begin in October.

Introduced by SWNA Advisory Board member Thelma Jones, Glen O'Gilvie, President and CEO of the Earth Conservation Corps, spoke on the history of the Corps, its current efforts and future plans to restore the river and lives of disconnected youth, and its interest in providing service to the community. O'Gilvie expressed his interest in working with the Call Box Committee to restore Southwest's historic police and fire call boxes, installed as early as the 1860s in order to summon emergency help. With the help of the Earth Conservation Corps, Southwest DC will become the home of dozens of call boxes restored as historic works of art painted to represent our waterfront community. Following O'Gilvie's informative presentation, the Corps' Program Coordinator, LaShauntya Moore-Reynolds, spoke on her experiences with the Corps with descriptions that made the Earth Conservation Corps, its members, and its activities come alive for the audience.

The evening's program ended with a lively and informative talk by the newly-named Police Historian, Nicholas Breul. Sergeant Breul reported on his recent assignment as the first full-time historian for the DC Police Department. As part of the "Project Pride Restoration" effort to raise awareness of the Police Department's history, Breul is responsible for locating and organizing all kinds of DC police lore; however, at the SWNA community meeting, he concentrated on tales about police and fire call boxes throughout their history. After the meeting, Sergeant Breul and Senior Police Office Kenneth Stewart stayed and showed Southwest neighbors pictures, maps and charts related to the location of DC call boxes.

Police Historian Nicholas Breul

"The Office of the Deputy Mayor for Planning and Economic Development

tic, supportive and excited, and anxious for the development to start.

Elinor Bacon, HSW, gave an introduction and she was followed by a welcome by Dr. Charlene Drew Jarvis, President of SEU. Jay Juergensen spoke on behalf of Deputy Mayor, Neil Albert, about the importance of the development to the District. Councilman Tommy Wells provided perspectives on the development as a key in the overall revitalization of Ward 6. Monty Hoffman and Bill Struever spoke about the Team, the Vision for the project and Neighborhood Transformation.

Stan Eckstut, Ehrenkrantz, Eckstut and Kuhn, Master Planners for the Southwest, discussed the team's focus to start from the water side and to design a water plan which would inform the and Hoffman-Struever Waterfront, LLC, (HSW) the Master Developer for the Southwest Waterfront, held a Community Forum on Wednesday, September 19th at Southeastern University, to introduce the development team to the community, to share preliminary design concepts for the revitalized waterfront and to engage the community to hear their ideas, concerns and hopes for the redevelopment.

More than 200 community members attended and attendees were enthusias-and bold concept plan which included pier buildings, public piers including a City Dock to welcome visitors from around the world and provide public access to the water, small streets and parks to provide view corridors, a narrow wharf street along the water's edge reminiscent of historic waterfronts, buildings of various sizes and configura-enjoyment.

The entire Hoffman-Struever Waterfront team joined the speakers for discussion following the presentations, including: Barry Johnson, Acres; Geoffrey Griffis, City partners; Desa Sealy Ruffin, Gotham Development; Freddie Lewis Archer, Lewis Real Estate Services and Triden Development; Daniel Perl, McCormack Baron Salazar; and Mark Cain, Smoot Construction.

Nina Albert, ODMPED, moderated the discussion which was followed by an opportunity to interact with the team one-on-one and learn more about various aspects of the development including sustainable design; jobs and job training; contracting opportunities for local small disadvantaged businesses; affordable housing and transportation.
